General Research Statement

Christian Davenport is the Mary Ann and Charles R. Walgreen Professor of the Study of Human Understanding, Professor of Political Science and Faculty Associate at the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan, Research Professor at the Peace Research Institute Oslo and Elected Fellow at the American Association for the Arts and Sciences. Primary research interests include political conflict/violence, measurement, racism and popular culture. He is the author of seven books: The Peace Continuum: What it is and How you study it with Erik Melander and Patrick Regan (2018, Oxford University Press) being the most recent. One book has just been recommended for publication at Oxford University Press: The Life and Death of State Repression (with Benjamin Appel), the second issue of his graphic novel RW-94: Reflections on Rwanda (with Darick Ritter) is forthcoming and others books are on the way: The Consequences of Contention (with Havard Nygard, David Armstrong and Hanne Fjelde) and Understanding Untouchability (with David Armstrong and Martin Macwan). Prof. Davenport is the author of 50+ peer-reviewed articles appearing in the American Political Science Review, the American Journal of Political Science, the American Sociological Review, the Annual Review of Political Science, the Journal of Politics, the Journal of Peace Research, Mobilization, Conflict Management and Peace Science and the Monthly Review (among others). He is the recipient of numerous grants (e.g., 10 from the National Science Foundation, a Toppforsk from the Research Council Norway) and awards (e.g., the Russell Sage Foundation Visiting Scholar Award and a Residential Fellowship at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences – Stanford University).
